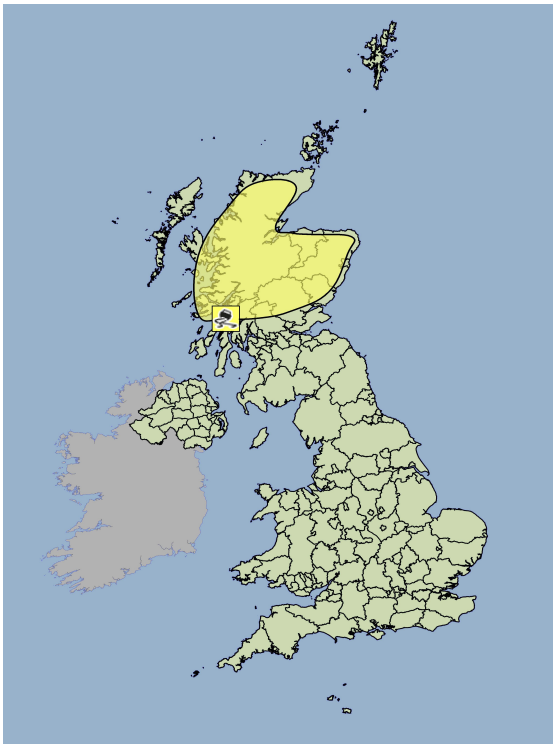
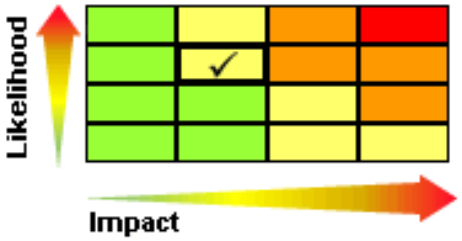
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A complex, slack, low pressure area over the UK on Saturday night will keep strong winds away from Scotland, allowing temperatures to fall readily over already cold, wet surfaces.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Alert of Ice

Valid from 00:05 on Sun, 17th Mar 2013 until 09:00 on Sun, 17th Mar 2013

Clearing skies following Saturday evening's rain and snow will allow temperatures to fall below freezing leading to widespread icy stretches on untreated roads. Drivers are advised to take extra care and be aware of the possibility of some travel disruption.
